THE 28th INTERNATIONAL CONVENTION TO ASSEMBLE IN LAS VEGAS

Every five years, the International Office of the United Union of Roofers, Waterproofers & Allied Workers is required to hold a convention, which provides the foundation to form a unified vision for the next five years of the Roofers Union.

The next International Convention will be held starting Sunday, October 13, 2013, at Paris Las Vegas Hotel and Casino, located in the heart of the Las Vegas Strip. It kicks off with registration and a welcome reception on Sunday, October 13, and closes with a morning session on Friday, October 18. In between those dates, delegates can anticipate a full schedule of legislative discussion, speakers and educational meetings.

At its heart, the convention serves as a forum for representatives/delegates from across the country to gather and discuss the future of our Union. Resolutions to the Constitution and By-laws are heard, debated and voted on. Hearings take place that allow delegates to discuss the proposed resolutions, which are offered by local unions, district councils and the International Executive Board. Due to this democratic process, everyone has a chance to be heard over the course of the week.

As in the past, this convention promises to be exciting, motivating and constructive. As the economy—and our Union—continues to forge ahead, we can look forward to a more prosperous future, one that will be shaped by your democratically elected representatives this October. ■
